

Watering Guide

Water newly planted trees & shrubs regularly with a garden hose for at least one month (2 months in Summer). Automatic irrigation systems may not be sufficient initially. Water frequency will vary according to season, exposure and plant size. Below is the recommended water guide during the growing season and then winters. We suggest taping this inside your irrigation box as a seasonal reminder.

Watering Guide @ wattersgardencenter.com

	Summer April - Oct	Winter Nov - Mar
Established Plants	1 X weekly	2 X monthly
New Plantings	2 X weekly	2 X monthly
Lawns	2 X weekly	3 X monthly
Flowers, Herbs, Veggies	3 X weekly	3 X monthly

Drip irrigation times are meant to run 2-3 hrs. Additional water needed for new plants or unusually dry weather.

Best taped inside irrigation box

Proper watering is the hardest part of growing plants. If your plants show signs of water stress, bring a sample branch into the garden center for diagnosis. Plants always benefit from a dose of granular 'Soil Activator' to stabilize trauma and promote new root growth.
